Fractured Skulls, Broken
Necks and Spinal Injuries
Causes of Fatalities.

TWO COLLEGE MEN KILLED

List of Injured Represents Only Those Incapacitated for Several Days.
1912 Record Exceeded.

Fourteen killed and 175 injured players comprise the levy exacted by King Football during the season of 1912, which practically closed with Saturday's games. This record exceeds that of 1912, when thirteen players met death and 154 were injured.

The 175 injured represents only those who were incapacitated for several days at least. Only those in which there were broken bones, dislocated joints, broken bones, internal injuries, and severe sprains, strains, and wrenches are considered in compiling the record.

Of the fourteen dead thirteen succumbed to injuries received in accidents this year. Charles Switzer, formerly a Hamline University player, died November 17 at St. Paul, following a complication of diseases resulting from minor injuries received several years ago. The third victim of the season, died November 17 at St. Paul, following a complication of diseases resulting from minor injuries received several years ago. The third victim of the season, died November 17 at St. Paul, following a complication of diseases resulting from minor injuries received several years ago.

College Players Killed.
Only two university players were killed. Vernon Belyet, left half back on the Norwich (Conn.) University team, was the first victim of the season. During a round end run in a game with Holy Cross on September 24, Belyet was tackled and thrown heavily to the ground. He was carried from the field and found to have received a broken spine. He died three days later.

Edward Morrissey, the other university player, was the captain of the St. Ambrose team in a practice game of September 27. He suffered a broken neck, fractured skull, and a broken spine. He died November 11.

The remaining dead were:
Lewis, John, Cambridge, Ohio, High School eleven; neck fractured and skull broken in game October 20; died same day.

Warner, Hall, Kalamazoo Public School; neck broken in interschool game October 2; died October 20.

Weldman, Allen, Minneapolis High School boy; spine broken in game September 24; died October 1.

Dunlap, Marcus, Vermillion, S. C., High School player; killed instantly in scrimmage during school recess October 22.

Gay, George H., Blackton, Mass.; neck broken in game between Union Club and Portsmouth, November 2; died November 4.

Riley, William, Wilmington, Del.; concussion of brain in game between independent teams; died October 11.

McCarthy, William, Lawrence, Mass.; High School; skull fractured in practice; died November 1.

Schwartz, Charles, Hamline University; injured three years ago, cold and concussion of brain since Baltimore game November 1; died November 4.

Hildebrand, Paul, Minnesota; skull fractured in high school interschool game November 21; died same day.

Wray, Homer H., Leeburg, Pa., a student at Gettysburg College; died Friday night from the effects of an injury suffered in a game between the Gettysburg and Dickinson College reserve teams at Carlisle three weeks ago.

One of the boys in Wray's chest was fractured. Abscesses formed on the lungs and caused his death.

Expert supervision of the college and university teams, as in previous years, tended to keep down the list of fatalities and injuries.

LATEST SOURCE OF KNOWLEDGE

Scenes and Incidents Pertaining to Greatest Achievement Known to Mankind.

Someone has said, "One's knowledge is of two kinds; that which he already knows, and that which he can readily find out."

There are but few of our readers who realize that the building of the great Panama Canal is actually the greatest work of all time. The Herald is distributing a book in its readers which sets forth every detail of this information. It tells you of the financial operations of Count De Lesseps, the Frenchman who first started to dig the great waterway; it explains the problem that has baffled the world since Balboa crossed the Isthmus 400 years ago; it shows how the skill of modern engineering has conquered the seemingly insuperable given in detail, but the country and the people are described so accurately that one feels on neighboring terms with them after reading this book.

Certificates as will be found elsewhere in The Herald today are printed daily during this educational campaign. Clip and present six of these certificates with the small expense amount that covers the bare cost of distribution and this beautiful and useful volume is yours. If not exactly as represented your money will be promptly refunded.

AGAINST PAN-AMERICAN MASS.

Regular League Believes Officials of Government Should Not Take Part.

The Washington Regular League, at a meeting held in Pythian Temple yesterday afternoon, heard an address by J. A. MacKnight on "The Crux of Evolution," and adopted resolutions declaring it to be inconsistent with the spirit and principle of separation of church and State for officials of the government to join in religious and church functions such as the Pan-American mass.

Mr. MacKnight contended that the crux, or test, of evolution lies in whether or not it can prove equal to the task of stemming and overcoming the tendency of mankind to superstition, and to the subjection of themselves to priestcraft. The persistence of, and great difficulty in overcoming, this tendency was emphasized by the speaker, who pointed out that not only the history of the past, but the conditions of the present enforce this lesson, and proclaim the necessity of vigorous action against this tendency in our own time and country.

MRS. D. M. NICHOLS IMPROVED.

Pythian Sisters Chief's Hands
Severely Burned in Accident.

The condition of Mrs. Della May Nichols, most excellent chief, Rathbone Temple, Pythian Sisters, who was burned painfully Thursday afternoon at her home, 331 Randolph street northwest, showed improvement yesterday.

Mrs. Nichols, after cleaning a pair of kid gloves in gasoline, struck a match to start a fire in a gas stove without first turning the gas off. With her hands ablaze, Mrs. Nichols ran from the house, and before the fire was extinguished her hands were badly burned.

Drowned While Skydiving.

As a result of a skydiving party on board a houseboat in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, near the "Outlet" lock, Randolph Brice, twenty-four years old, colored, was drowned yesterday shortly before noon. The boat in some manner turned over. Brice and two companions, Ham Brice, a brother, and Richard Phillips, were thrown under the boat, the latter, however, managing to get to the surface of the water.

CITIZENS OPPOSE SUFFRAGIST TALK

Secret Vote Required to Prevent Expounder of "Cause" Being Heard.

EXCITEMENT AT MEETING

Central Association Divided Until Announcement that No Record of Individual Attitude Would Be Kept.

There is in Washington a body of warriors unafraid—men who would not flinch, or at least, have not faltered under the final test of courage. It is the Central Citizens' Association.

Fifty or more members, who would be taken anywhere for pro-social business men, at a meeting at North Capitol Savings Bank yesterday, voted emphatically not to allow a prominent suffragist—assistant editor of the suffrage magazine—to plead her cause before them.

Nothing unusual was noticed. H. J. Brown, of the Tax Reform Association, in which he pointed out deficiencies in the suffrage movement. Mr. Brown said that because of unfair assessments of taxes, building operations have practically stopped. Many workmen, he said, have been thrown out of work. The legislative committee was ordered to note Mr. Brown's remarks and to investigate.

Driscoll Gave No Hint.
A. J. Driscoll, of the District Street Safety Association, gave no hint of the tumult to follow. Mr. Driscoll urged minute traffic regulations that would cover every phase of travel.

A member of the association, whose name must, for the protection of his fellows, be suppressed, arose with a letter from a prominent woman of Baltimore and Washington. The letter asked that in view of their undoubted sympathy with the cause, the sender be permitted to address the association at a later day in woman's suffrage.

Cheers greeted the letter. But among the chorus of cheers there were heard expressions of dissent, such as "let her hire a hall."

Several married men in the audience pressed hands to their hearts. Many unmarried men snickered, and cheered the dissenters.

There was quite a time. The married men recovered from their surprise, and certain that it could be nothing but a joke on the part of the dissenters, urged that the speaker be thanked and her offer be accepted.

Fear once more entered the hearts, the very soul, in fact, of the married men, when at the conclusion of their smoothing speeches there arose simultaneously about nine voices of relief, which was the expression of a recognition of woman's suffrage.

Arguments were exchanged. Then a leader among the warriors voted to find the sentiment of the association. There arose a chorus of loud ayes. There came right back a murmur of dissent, if facetious, none. President Leo A. Rover could not decide who had won. Men arose from their seats as "aye" and "no" were called. It seemed that there was a tie.

Secret Vote Saves.
Just before the raising of hands, the opponents promised that names would not be used if members wished to conceal their votes. The vote was taken up to the smoke-enslaved ceiling. There was no use to count. The suffragist was denied the audience she sought.

Things quieted down, but so disturbed that the members of the association did not think to decline to serve because of business pressure, when the following list of committee names was announced:

Membership—Dr. George A. Lechboer, chairman; Joseph Danthakis, secretary; H. C. Reinhardt, and W. S. Hildebrand.

Police and fire—James Richardson, chairman; A. W. Adams, secretary; J. Clark, R. E. Lawrence, and Roy M. Perry.

"TIME ENOUGH" TEXT OF PASTOR'S SERMON

Rev. C. Everett Granger Preaches Sermon on Procrastination—Sin
Gains by Delay.

Procrastination in religion—those who put off until "tomorrow" their Christian duties—were criticized in a sermon yesterday by the Rev. C. Everett Granger, pastor of Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church. The sermon was on "The Procrastinator's Plagues—Time Enough." It was the third in a series on "Popular Excesses."

The Rev. Dr. Granger took as his text, "And he said, 'tomorrow.'" He said, in part:

"The excuse, 'time enough,' may be promoted by a false conception of truth and fact. Many today have no deep, positive, true conviction of divine truth as revealed by God. They don't believe God. They don't believe or they would act differently."
